

Longmeadow Parkway Bridge Toll Signs to be Removed

On April 30, Kane County will take down two overhead toll-related signs east of the new Longmeadow Parkway Fox River Bridge near Carpentersville. The sign removal serves as a symbolic moment marking the end of any further implementation of a toll system originally created to fund the construction of the bridge. With the allocation of $35 million in additional funding from the State, Kane County and its regional partners, the highly anticipated Longmeadow Parkway Bridge will now open to the motoring public toll-free, later this year.
