Tune in Online for an In-depth Look at Bobcats in Illinois

GENEVA, IL — Bobcats have been spotted in Kane County! Join Ellen Audia, PhD student at Southern Illinois University, for a fascinating exploration of bobcats in north-central Illinois.

Learn about the history of bobcats in our state, recent bobcat recolonization of northern Illinois, and bobcat ecology — all from the comfort of your own home! Join us Thursday, April 11 from 7-8:30 p.m. virtually on Zoom.

Research being conducted by Ellen and her scientific advisors is helping the Illinois Department of Natural Resources understand bobcat population dynamics and develop strategies for managing bobcats in Illinois. Tune in to learn about the exciting progress being made.

Advance registration is required for this free program. Zoom links will be emailed the day prior to the program. To register, call 630-444-3190 or email programs@kaneforest.com.
